MONITORING REPORT 2008 – 2016, BERLIN, GERMANY

INTRODUCTION

Berlin inspires. Not only has the city masterfully handled reunification, it has also evolved into a culturally diverse, tolerant, and cosmopolitan metropolis attracting talented individuals and creative minds from all around the world. Today, creativity is Berlin’s key distinguishing feature. The city has become a hotspot for the creative and startup scene — from design, advertising, fashion, art, film, music and a constantly growing digital scene. Creativity is also the city's perspective for the future. The economy is recording a stable trend towards growth driven by innovation and creativity, its two main assets. Berlin still has lots of free space and room to grow, as well as robust networks, a vibrant creative landscape and an outstanding infrastructure in education and research.

Berlin’s reputation is attracting growing numbers of people. The city’s population is increasing by several ten thousands every year — indicative of Berlin’s appeal and the opportunities it has to offer. The city is pleasant to live in, and consistently achieves high scores in international rankings for quality of life, affordable rents and moderate costs of living. This development is driven by a mix of attractiveness, an influx of new ideas and a proactive power to innovate which extends far beyond the creative industries. Thanks to the right balance between economic growth and cosmopolitan outlook, a creative climate and enough space for entrepreneurs from around the world, Berlin will continue to take its place among the leading locations for the creative industries in the years to come.

The UNESCO certification as “City of Design” was a milestone in recognizing Berlin’s creative potential. It helped highlight the creative industries and design sector in Berlin itself as well as abroad and put more awareness on these fields of competence. The certification was combined with lots of other supporting and promotional activities. It strengthened Berlin’s confidence to undergo the process of structural change from an industrial to a creative and digital economy, deepened the exchange between Berlin and other creative cities and forced a deeper intercultural understanding. Berlin is highly motivated to become part of an intensive exchange of experience with other creative cities worldwide. Cooperation projects have taken place so far with Copenhagen (fashion), Athens (fashion), Paris (design), Shanghai (design), Buenos Aires (design) and Montreal (design/architecture) and many other cities.

In Berlin, more than 195,000 people are currently working in the creative industries sector, which corresponds to 10% of all employees in Berlin. The city’s 30,000 companies operating in the creative industries generate a yearly turnover of more than 18 billion euros. Berlin offers creative enterprises and design companies excellent framework conditions - internationally recognized training institutions, innovative fairs and festivals and last but not least synergetic networks.

A dense landscape of design companies, service providers, showrooms, fairs and sales platforms has emerged in the last 10 years. Design stands for inventiveness, variety, innovation and interdisciplinary work, but is also a serious economic factor. Berlin has 4,400 design offices working in the areas of industrial, product, fashion, graphic and communication design. Many Berlin-based designers take strong cross-disciplinary approaches, some market and distribute their products themselves. Others have national and international approaches and are committed to growth.

The certification and the growth of the sector are incentives for the city to improve the conditions for creative businesses. Starting in 2010 the Senate for Economics, Technology and Research drafted a design strategy with the aim of strengthening the sector’s economic power and innovative potential, and also to further secure Berlin’s position as a design metropolis.

Based on these findings Berlin has developed a number of new formats including, for example, the Hybrid Platform, a transdisciplinary format bringing together designers and engineers, the Industrial Design Campaign, presented at numerous fairs around the world, and the Design Transfer Bonus Program, which provides funding for projects that utilize design services in order to develop innovative solutions. Additional funding has been provided to support presentations abroad showcasing Berlin’s Fashion and product design highlights (fashion: “Berlin Showroom”/ design: “Berlin Design Selection”).

Furthermore, startups and cross-industrial collaborations have been supported via competitions with prize money, coaching and workshops, for instance, “Start your Fashion Business” and the Design & Healthcare Competition, as well as the design competitions in cooperation with the UNESCO Creative Cities Network. An interdisciplinary and collaborative approach is characteristic for Berlin. This ability to think outside the box harbors a significant potential for innovation which needs to be leveraged more intensely in cooperation with traditional industries as well as through collaborations on an international level.

MAJOR INITIATIVES IMPLEMENTED AT LOCAL LEVEL

Major Initiatives implemented at local level benefiting Creative Industries

Creative City Berlin Website
Creative City Berlin is the central platform for creative and cultural entrepreneurs in Berlin. The website keeps them informed about recent support in the form of funding programs, scholarships, workshops, jobs or events and highlights market trends in the creative industries and cultural happenings in Berlin. This forum is intended to give a voice to Berlin's creative scene and offers a lot of matchmaking tools. Through interfaces and co-operations, Creative City Berlin is also linked to local networks, cultural and creative blogs as well as job market websites. Creative City Berlin is co-financed by the Senate for Economics, Technology and Research. The website has more than 1.2 million visitors per year.

www.creative-city-berlin.com

Coaching Bonus Program (Coaching Vouchers)
The Coaching Bonus Program was initiated in 2008 and offers subsidized coaching services and mentoring for start-ups and established enterprises in all creative sectors. They provide a pool of around 70 coaches with in-depth knowledge of starting a business, business administration and the different creative disciplines. Around 100 enterprises annually benefit from this program with one third of these enterprises coming from the design sector.
www.coachingbonus.de/

Venture Capital Fund
With its Venture Capital Fund Creative Industries (70 million euros) Berlin has financed more than 140 investments, over 50 ambitious Berlin start-ups including design enterprises like scarosso, tausendkind and C’est tout. This fund is especially designed for businesses in the creative industries sector. By the end of 2015, this funding program was able to create over 400 jobs. The fund was initiated and is co-financed by the Senate Department for Economics since 2008.
www.ibb-bet.de/start.html

Crowdfunding Platform
Crowdfunding has recently emerged as a financing instrument and has a growing market. The website www.crowdfunding-berlin.com showcases Berlin-based crowdfunding and crowd investing projects currently ongoing in the creative and media industries. The aggregator portal pools key information, trends and events. The website provides a forum for an in-depth discussion and closely works together with many of the national and international crowdfunding platforms. Initiated and co-financed by the Senate for Economics, Technology and Research the aggregator platform aims at making Berlin a key European hub for crowdfunding. Within two years nearly 300 creative and cultural projects were successfully financed, around 80 from the design and fashion sector.
www.crowdfunding-berlin.com

Design Transfer Bonus Program
The Design Transfer Bonus Program helps SMEs to innovate their businesses. The program brings together companies from traditional sectors, e.g. manufacturing, healthcare, engineering, transport or logistics with design companies based in Berlin. The program is aimed at transferring innovation and design knowledge to SMEs developing tech oriented products and services. The companies get the opportunity to work with design experts early in the production process and develop new innovative solutions. The program provides incentives with funding up to 70% and a maximum of 15,000 euros. Since 2011 the voucher scheme, initiated by the Senate for Economics, Technology and Research, financed more than 150 cross-industry innovation projects. The program is an unbureaucratic innovation booster in the capital region.

More than 30 Competitions/ Awards since 2009
As part of the competition series called “Berlin- Made2Create” the Senate for Economics, technology and Research supports young entrepreneurs from the creative and startup scene. Up to now more than 30 competitions on topics such as smart wearables, Internet radio, Apps4Berlin, evolving books, serious games, visual effects, creative technology and Start your Fashion Business have been organized. Of a total of 1,500 applications more than 150 innovative projects in Berlin have been awarded with prize money, media support and coaching services. The competitions are designed to strengthen the innovative power of Berlin’s startup scene.

Opening New Markets/ Joint Presentations
Every year the Senate for Economics, Technology and Research co-finances more than 20 joint presentations, for example in the context of the interior fair Salone de Mobile in Milan, fashion weeks in Paris and New York, digital marketing fairs like dmexco and the Games Convention in Cologne as well the Mobile World Congress in Barcelona. These joint presentations are organized by intermediaries and networks. The Senate for Economics, Technology and Research invests more than 1 million euros per year in presentations of the creative sector outside of Germany.

Every market sector needs flagship events to promote its international profile and visibility. In Berlin’s design sector, these include the Berlin Fashion Week, DMY International Design Festival, Nightshift or Typo Berlin, which are platforms for local, national and international businesses for presentations and networking.

Berlin Fashion Week
In the fashion industry, the Berlin Fashion Week provides a communicative framework for currently around 15 trade fair and fashion shows.
The Senate for Economics, Technology and Research promotes the local fashion industry since 2007 with a minimum annual budget of 1 million euros and an extensive portfolio of measures. Each year, we finance fashion platforms, fashion shows (80 up to now), cooperate with all fashion fairs, organize local fashion awards and invest in promotion and communication. Our Fashion Week website reaches 1.2
MONITORING REPORT 2008 – 2016, BERLIN, GERMANY

Million visitors annually. Numerous other programs have been opened for fashion companies, including the coaching services via the Creative Bonus Program, the Design Transfer Bonus Program and the Venture Capital Fund for creative industries. More than 120,000 buyers and media representatives attend each Berlin Fashion Week. Aside from the event’s value for the fashion industry itself, up to 240 million euros flow into the Berlin economy every year benefiting, for example, hotels, restaurants and event organizers.

www.fashion-week-berlin.com

DMY Design Festival
The DMY International Design Festival Berlin, founded over ten years ago, has become a »go-to« event for product designers, attracting more than 40,000 visitors annually. From 2008 to 2011 the Senate for Economics, Technology and Research co-financed the DMY Design Festival with the aim of establishing an international platform for design products, prototypes and material innovations in Berlin and supporting local and international networking.

Over 500 designers, companies and universities showcase their latest works and provide insights into the processes and concepts. Furthermore, design institutions from all over the globe show group exhibitions. The festival’s talents section reveals new product developments.

International Creative Industries/ Design Conferences
As part of the annual Design Week the design conference in 2014 illuminated design from surprising perspectives. Inspiration came from fields as diverse as mathematics, dance, scent, diplomacy, football and automobile. The city co-financed several conferences covering the challenges in the creative sectors in the last decade, examples are:

German Design Conference, 2007

Elegance Conference, 2014 www.triad.de/de/projekte/eleganz/

Nightshift - Open Design Studios/ Matchmaking
Since 2011 the Create Berlin Network organizes an Open Studio Tour through Berlin based design offices. More than 70 studios in Berlin open their doors and invite visitors to talks, lectures and tours in which visitors can gain insight into the creative working environments. Besides these events numerous galleries, shops and design institutions organize exhibitions and give receptions. More than 5,000 visitors annually.

In 2015 the Senate for Economics, Technology and Research was one of the main sponsors and organized matchmaking events between design agencies and executives of other sectors.

ID Berlin - Industrial Design Campaign
Berlin stands for compelling industrial design. In 2011/ 2012 in cooperation with the International Design Center Berlin the city presented successful industrial design by Berlin-based design offices at the
MONITORING REPORT 2008 – 2016, BERLIN, GERMANY

Hannover Fair, during the Unesco Creative Cities Conference in Seoul, Business of Design Week in Hong Kong as well as the Helsinki Design Week. The presentation aimed at strengthening the image of Berlin as a center for innovative product development and the design industry on an international level. The initiative was funded by the Senate for Economics, Technology and Research and executed by the International Design Center Berlin.

Design Exchange Program – BerlinPoland 2011 – 2014

The network project connected design professionals and enterprises across the Polish-German border. The projects supported network building by creating points of interference for mutually interested professionals – thus bringing together the potential of the creative metropolis Berlin and the expanding Polish economy. The activities connected more than 350 enterprises from both countries, were funded by the Senate for Economics. Technology and Research and executed by the International Design Center Berlin. BerlinPoland 2015 continues the successful network building activities with a focus on fashion production and design manufacturing, but also connecting Berlin-based design consultancies, Polish brands and enterprises with future clients.

Cross Innovation Exchange

The project Cross Innovation promotes collaborative and user-driven innovation that happens across sectoral, technological and geographic boundaries. Its focus lies on policies and support measures that enable cross innovation and creative spillovers between creative sectors and other industries. The partnership consists of 11 metropolitan hotspots with the potential to put cross innovation on the top of local policy agendas across Europe: Birmingham, Amsterdam, Rome, Berlin, Tallinn, Warsaw, Vilnius, Stockholm, Linz, Lisbon and Pilsen. The project also examined how local support can enable companies that operate in co-working spaces and incubators to collaborate in order to develop their products and services for other markets and overcome market fragmentation. The main results include many good practices, a toolkit on implementing cross innovation instruments and implementation plans.

www.cross-innovation.eu/about/

Cross Innovation Competitions, e.g. Design & Healthcare

The Senate for Economics, Technology and Research organizes regular cross cluster competitions to provide impetus for innovation collaborations, e.g. between designers and the healthcare industry in the capital region. More than 30 applications were submitted, from medical products and spaces with innovative design, serious games applications as well as software solutions concerning healthcare.

www.berlin.de/projektzukunft/wettbewerbe/design-healthcare/

Berlin Showroom during international Fashion Weeks

Berlin Showroom is a multilabel presentation taking place up to five times a year to discover leading fashion design from Berlin during New York or Paris Fashion Week. Berlin Showroom presents the best of Berlin fashion to international buyers and the press providing a unique opportunity for groundbreaking and cutting-edge designers to promote themselves outside Berlin. The showroom showcases a carefully curated group of designers, ranging from emerging talents to established designers. Berlin Showroom was initiated and is largely financed by Berlin’s Senate for Economics, Technology and Research. www.berlinshowroom.com/

Crowdfunding Competitions

Berlin is a leading design metropolis and a hotspot for creative startups in design-related domains. Berlin is also an important location for crowdfunding platforms in Europe. The city established its own aggregator platform www.crowdfunding-berlin.com that cooperates with all the big players in order to present crowdfunding/ crowd investing projects of Berlin-based enterprises and support them in finding investors. In cooperation with our website we regularly organize thematic competitions, around four per year, including in the field of design and media. www.berlin.de/projektzukunft/wettbewerbe/berliner-crowdfunding-preis/

Berlin Popup Stores in Cities worldwide

In 2015 Berlin went on tour with a pop-up store. In five European cities (Stockholm, London, Paris, Vienna, Amsterdam) mainly design products (perfume, 3D printed goods, furniture, stylish glasses, touristic products) from Berlin were shown and sold over a period of one or two weeks. The presentation was aimed at promoting Berlin as a creative and innovative city. Each popup store was combined with matchmaking dinners. The project is financed by the Senate for Economics, Technology and Research and operated by visitberlin and Berlin Partner. /www.berlin-partner.de/nc/presse/presseinformationen/detailansicht/pop-into-berlin/

MAJOR INITIATIVES IMPLEMENTED THROUGH INTERCITY COOPERATION

European Creative Industries Alliance 2012 - 2015

The European Creative Industries Alliance (ECIA) is an integrated policy initiative that combines policy learning on innovation vouchers, access to finance and cluster excellence cooperation. It is an open platform that brings together policy-makers, networkers and companies from 28 organizations and 12 countries. Its overall aim is to shape a community in Europe that actively supports creative industries as a driver for competitiveness, job creation and structural change by developing and testing better policies and tools for creative industries. The website provides information on innovation strategies and funding opportunities. In addition to Amsterdam, Barcelona, Helsinki and Nantes Berlin is one of the consortium partners of the European Creative Industries Alliance. www.eciaplatform.eu

Design Exchange Program/ BerlinPoland 2011 – 2014

The network-building project connected design professionals and enterprises across the Polish-German border (Berlin, Breslau, etc.). The projects supported network building by creating points of interference for mutually interested professionals – thus bringing together the potential of the creative metropolis Berlin and of the expanding Polish economy. The activities connected more than 350 enterprises from both countries, were funded by the Berlin Senate and executed by the International Design Center. Berlin Poland 2015 continues the successful network building activities with focus on fashion production and design manufacturing, but also connecting Berlin-based design consultancies, Polish brands and enterprises with future clients.
UNESCO Cities of Design (COD) Communication Platform since 2013

Creative Cities have a common denominator: Mostly cultural heritage, a vibrant creative scene and the commitment to use the potential of this creative milieu for the development of the city. Cities increasingly play a vital role by offering a climate of openness for innovative processes and act as gateways to globalized markets. Berlin is part of this network. The Cities of Design Buenos Aires, Montréal, Nagoya, Kobe, Saint-Étienne, Shenzhen, Shanghai, Seoul, Graz and Berlin operate a joint communication platform with information about design-focused major events in each city, a calendar and communication tools. www.designcities.net/city/berlin/

Award selection for Shenzhen International Young Talents Award in 2013

The UNESCO Creative Cities Network together with the city of Shenzhen proclaimed a design competition in 2013, with 11 design cities from all over the world taking part in the competition. Among the winners were two Berlin-based design offices - Enfantgate and Bobby Kolade - as well as the Senate as best nominator for the excellent selection in Berlin. Enfantgate won the "Merit Award" for its starter kit for newborns. Bobby Kolade, winner of the fashion contest SYFB in Berlin, was awarded the "New Star Award" in Shenzhen. www.szday.org/

UNESCO Cities of Design Poster Campaign and Roadshow 2009 - 2011

In 2009 the Berlin based design network CREATE BERLIN initiated a poster design contest on the topic »UNESCO City of Design«. In 2010, the same contest was held by the other Cities of Design Shenzhen, Montreal, Kobe, Buenos Aires, Nagoya und Shanghai. In 2010 Berlin presented a selection of the applications submitted by all Unesco Cities of Design including Berlin. The contest and the presentation were financed by the Senate for Economics, Technology and Research. www.create-berlin.de/article_a-7-CODE+Plakatcontest_en.html

Berlin Design Presentations around the world 2007 - 2010

AGENDA FOR MIDTERM PERIOD

Nearly all of the formats and programs listed above are continued and regularly adapted to the needs of the companies and the context. Digitization affects the value chains in all sectors, therefore access to consumers, innovation, cross innovation, smart data solutions and the Internet of Things will play a crucial role in our future programs.

Topics for Midterm Period

Cross Innovation
Smart wearables/ fashion tech: www.berlin.de/projektzukunft/wettbewerbe/wearableit-
