Sauti za Busara is more than ‘just’ a music festival: it contributes to the growth and professionalization of the creative sector in the region; provides learning, exchange and employment opportunities, and promotes Zanzibar globally as a leading destination for cultural tourism.

The key features of the event include:
❖ Performance Opportunities, the festival give the chance for local and international arties to perform in the same stage. The young artists learn and get experience from the old artiest.
Collaboration & Exchange, Organising specific workshops on themes around professional career development, particularly addressing the needs of local and emerging artists. Establishing a convivial “Festival HQ” where artists, professionals, festival invitees can meet, eat, interact and exchange throughout the days. Organising an official “After Festival Party” gatherings for artists, professionals, crew and invitees, in partnership with local venues. Exchanging information, news, resources, advice and mutual support.

Developing a regional touring circuit to increase performance opportunities and audience reach for local, regional and international artists Developing technical skills exchanges, for crew to secure additional job opportunities and learning experiences beyond Busara

Artistic exchange and collaborations. Specific projects as identified, e.g. sharing equipment and resources, or combining events marketing and promotion.
Does it specifically target young people? ■ YES / ❑ NO

What are the results achieved so far through the implementation of the measure/initiative?

❖ Promotion of artists and making them able to perform in international fore
❖ Great platform for artists and creators
❖ Training workshop
❖ Act as Platform
❖ Easy mobility of artist inward and outwards
❖ To run a campaign for the youth in different object e.g.. Say no sexual Harassment
❖ Maintain good relationship with Government
What do you consider should be the priorities of CSOs when implementing the 2005 Convention over the next 4 years? Why?

❖ Marketing & Fundraising: During the next five years, Busara Promotions will continue its efforts to secure grants from international donors, agencies and foundations and re-engage international partners that previously supported the Festival. We will concentrate fundraising efforts in identifying and applying to Calls for Proposals that are relevant to the objectives and activities defined in this Strategic Plan. Whilst greatly appreciating support from international donors, it is also important to highlight the difficulties experienced in accommodating different donors’ objectives and agendas, and new activities these usually imply. Whilst still aiming to recruit a permanent Fundraising Manager, we may also seek external support to assist Busara in drafting proposals on a case-by-case basis.

❖ Capacity and Technical support for SAUTI ZA BUSARA staffs

❖ Professionalism, Busara Promotions will continue to be receptive in identifying training requirements for local crew. Each year, in responding to these needs we will seek to recruit qualified technical experts to provide on-site trainings, e.g.: Stage, venue and site management. Sound and lighting engineering. Crowd control and audience safety. Other areas of activity, as and when required.

❖ Organisation, Sauti za Busara Promotion plan to maintain the existing team.
Recruit the following permanent staff to increase local partnerships, relate with and report to local partners, donors and sponsors and help diversify funding sources.— in charge of promotions, on press/media/social networks.—Graphic Designer (part time)

Recruit the following temporary staff each year, to support and learn from the core team:— to help organise Movers & Shakers, Swahili Encounters, Busara Xtra, Carnival Parade, Festival stalls and traders.—Assistants to Coordinators (i.e. the next generation of managers and directors).

Does the International Fund for Cultural Diversity (IFCD) support the implementation of the policy/measure?  ☐ YES □ NO

What are the results achieved so far through the implementation of the policy/measure?

❖ Improve welfare of artists. Tanzanian artist in general and musicians in particular were getting a raw deal from radio and television stations.
❖ The fortunes of artistic improved with the introduction of the policy which sought to improve the lot of artist. The Policy also revolutionized Tanzanian artist as more genres found their way onto the market. -The Disc Jockeys, prior to the introduction of the 60% local content policy, were not playing local music on air. They were mainly interested music from outside Tanzanian’s borders which they felt was more popular than local music.
❖ -The opening up of the air waves has provided opportunities for more players in radio and television. These have become important platforms for the expression of cultural diversity
❖ -Increase in Tanzanian local film in terms of content and market as well.

Name of measure/initiative: Promoting Freedom of the Media and Media Monitoring

Name of CSO(s) responsible for the implementation of the measure/initiative: Media Council of Tanzania (MCT) EMAIL: media@mct.or.tz PHONE: +255 22 277 5728/ 277 1947

Cultural domains covered by the measure/initiative:
◼ Media Arts

Website of the measure/initiative, if available: https://www.mct.or.tz

Describe the main features of the measure/initiative:
❖ Press Freedom Violations Register (PFVR). The database has been built up and is now an online platform, which can be inputted by data by email, SMS and directly into database. The PFVR will be used as a tool by national media houses, journalists associations, individual journalists, civil society organisations and international organisations for evidence based advocacy.
Media Monitoring activities. The monitoring of ethical performance and quality of the media provides not only the Media Council of Tanzania (MCT) with data for designing its interventions based on actual needs, but also media houses and journalists with information on how to improve their quality and services to the public. Issues of quality, such as sourcing, gender and accuracy will therefore be monitored. Media monitoring will be expanded.

Awards, besides playing the traditional roles of informing, educating and entertaining the public, journalists are increasingly taking the crucial role of agents of change and empowerment. They research and expose, they advocate for important causes, they are a bridge between the leaders and the masses, and they are the voice of the voiceless. They shape opinion and articulate the people’s agenda.
Does it specifically target young people? □ YES / ■ NO

Does this measure/initiative receive or has it received funding from the International Fund for Cultural Diversity (IFCD)? □ YES / ■ NO

What are the results achieved so far through the implementation of the measure/initiative?

The Council monitored PFV on a daily basis as reported in various media outlets.
PFV in 2018 included threats, intimidation, assaults, kidnapping of journalists, and destruction, vandalism as well as arson on media property.
❖ Five TV stations were fined in the New Year, four suspended for running ‘unbalanced’ stories.
❖ For the first time in the journalism profession in Tanzania, MCT in collaboration with Spark Media Consulting Ltd produced a systematic and scientific report on the quality of media in Tanzania
MCT worked with an independent international firm to research on the quality of the media in the country. The study was extended to radio, newspapers, TV, blogs and online media. In collaboration with local media houses and journalism tutors, Spark Media Consulting Ltd of Berne, Switzerland developed quality criteria which were agreed with MCT and met international standards. The results of the study and lessons learned would be followed up with specific interventions.

Three Consultants were engaged in August 2018 to compile MCT’s flagship book, State of the Media Report. This time the book covers 2017/2018. For practical purposes, research on this MCT flagship publication is done during last quarter of each year in order to enable researchers to fully capture all important media scenes and developments during the specific year of reference. The book is expected to launched in early 2019.

The Excellence in Journalism Awards Tanzania (EJAT) 2017 Gala Night was held on Saturday, May 12, 2018 at the Golden Tulip Hotel in Dar es Salaam. It was a prize giving ceremony for awarding and recognizing journalists who excelled in their work in 2017.
What do you consider should be the priorities of CSOs when implementing the 2005 Convention over the next 4 years? Why?

❖ Lack of an assured funding stream is one of the major challenges when it comes to continuity and/or designing of follow up activities. For instance one partner reneged on funding litigation at a time when MCT had to pay counsel, causing much apprehension. Again lack of resources was evident when MCT could not satisfy the demand for the Yearbook on Media Quality.

❖ Overblown stakeholder and partner expectations, such as when partners do not fully play their part in EJAT or when demands outstrip capacity.
❖ Search for reliable funding streams will be a priority

❖ Challenge was experienced in implementation of ways forward from Coalition on the Right to Information (CoRI) meetings and even visits by Ethics Committee (EC). With CoRI, the Council had to follow up on agreed ways forward even when partner organizations were assigned. With EC visits, a number of postmortem recommendations were not implemented by visited stakeholders.
Balancing gender in activity implementation was a challenge. In most of the activities faces of senior female participants were the same due to the dearth of female editors and managers in the media.

Internet and Network issues were a recurring problem that made execution of duties related to the PFVR a challenge. Sending large attachments was also a challenge. The staffs that were mainly affected were from Programmes and the Finance Manager who were required to send large attachments to Internews.

Staff time was constrained. They had to divide focus from programme implementation only to programme implementation plus resource mobilisation. Increased reporting requirements resulting from having multiple funders some of who are short term funders, with every funder having their own reporting requirements and timeframes.

Lack of core funding to support Governance and Administrative activities.

Many members economy has gone down and some of them are no longer viable or even operational, paying membership fees has been difficult.

It has been difficult to get official information on the fate of MCT Zinga farm from relevant officials.

MCT activities have largely remained at the same level while staffing has gone down. The organogram does not support the level of the activities implemented and it is challenging to revise because of lack of resources.

Describe the main features of the measure/initiative:

❖ Civil Society Organisations (CSO’s) in Tanzania engage in a weeklong CSO multi-stakeholder conference, named CSO Week every year. The event is aimed at bringing together key Civil Society members and their respective organisations to effectively engage in in-depth discussions on their work, share experiences, and see how CSOs can strategically collaborate within the sector, with citizens, Government, donors, and private sector.

❖ Over 15 CSOs led by Foundation for Civil Society have organised CSO Week, including Policy Forum, Wajibu Institute, Twaweza, Save the Children, United Nations Association of Tanzania (UNA), Legal Services Facility (LSF), Care International, Msichana Initiative, Shirikisho la Vyama vya Watu wenyewe Ulemavu Tanzania (Shivyawata), Tanzania Association of NGOs (TANGO), HakiElimu, HakiRasilimali, Tanganyika Law Society (TLS), CBM and the Accountability in Tanzania programme (AcTII).
The occasion was a very important platform for comprehensive engagement between CSOs and the Government. The 2019 CSO Week theme was “Progress Through Partnerships: Collaboration as a Driver for Development”. This theme places greater emphasis on partnership. For Tanzania to achieve its development vision and attain a level of growth envisioned in the Sustainable Development goals, multi-stakeholder collaboration holds the key.

In ensuring that we build the CSOs sector in the country, during CSO Week members were able to celebrate, recognise and honour achievements and contributions made by various institutions or individuals that have influenced development policy and practice in Tanzania. In a broader perspective, the CSO Week created and deepen a sustainable model for growth fuelled by civil society’s effective engagement in efforts to achieve Tanzania’s development vision.

Describe the main features of the measure/initiative:

Between 2014 -2017, CDEA implemented a project titled ‘Research in Culture and Creative Industries focusing on the Film and Music sub-sectors contribution to creative economy in Tanzania and EAC Common Market’ that supported by CKU/DANIDA. The overall objective of the project was to enhance advocacy and lobbying for a stronger national focus on cultural and creative industries in the film and music sector, through research, documentation, and knowledge sharing.
The specific objectives of the project were:
To carry out research and documentation for the film and music subsectors by end of December 2017
• To engage in advocacy and dialogue with key strategic stakeholders for the film and music subsectors by end of December 2017

• The research outputs, especially the industry analysis for the film and music industries, provided the input for launching the annual Mashariki Creative Economy Impact Investment Conference, whose goal is to enable stakeholders to dialogue, learn from national and regional initiatives, make decisions and take action regarding improving investment in the creative economy in East Africa.
Does it specifically target young people? ■ YES / □ NO

Does this measure/initiative receive or has it received funding from the International Fund for Cultural Diversity (IFCD)? □ YES / ■ NO

What are the results achieved so far through the implementation of the measure/initiative?

The project produced the following research products:

• Policy Brief 1: National Indicators for Cultural and Creative Industries in the Next Five Year Development Plan 2016/17 – 2020/21

• Policy Brief 2: Digital Revolution: Challenges and Opportunities for the Film and Music Industry in Tanzania

• Policy Brief 3: Conditions Required To Support The Trade And Commercialisation Of Film And Music Industries In East Africa

• Policy Brief 4: Access To Capital And Business Expertise In For The Film And Music Industries In Tanzania
• Mashariki: Cultural Understanding and Peace Building Journals (6 issues)
• Tanzania Film Value Chain Report
• Tanzania Music Value Chain Report
• Tanzania Film and Music Industries: Analysis Of The Industry-Specific Framework Conditions Relevant For Growth And Investment

CDEA has so far held two regional conferences in 2017 and 2018. In 2017, the Mashariki Creative Economy Impact Investment Conference focused on how to improve the investment ecosystem for the creative industries in East Africa, with focus on the textiles and fashion design, jewellery and accessories design, content production for digital channels and music/concerts and festivals in the tourism circuit. In 2018, the conference theme was: Intellectual Property as Collateral for Financing the Creative Economy in East Africa.
What do you consider should be the priorities of CSOs when implementing the 2005 Convention over the next 4 years? Why? (400 words)

▪ CDEA in collaboration with selected EAC member states to carry out an audit of the economic impact of the creative industries at micro and macro level and share findings at next Mashariki Creative Economy Impact Investment Conference
▪ CDEA to collaborate with the Ministry of Culture, Information, Arts and Sports to host the next Mashariki Creative Economy Impact Investment Conference in Arusha to ensure participation of high level government officials from EAC member states.
▪ CDEA, COSOTA and CISAC agreed to have a policy conference in Arusha to push the EAC to have the creative industries IP agenda for the region.
▪ CDEA will engage in advocacy activities on the preferential treatment of cultural goods and services in trade agreements such as the African Continental Free Trade Area (AfCFTA)
▪ CDEA will facilitate a multi-stakeholder process for an EAC regional strategy on IP value capture that will be presented to the AfCFTA Focal Person on IPR at the AUC and also through the relevant ministry in Tanzania in charge of coordinating AfCFTA negotiations
▪ Establishing policy gaps and provide recommendations to enhance e-commerce for regional and international trade, so as to achieve a balanced flow of cultural goods & services.

Describe the main features of the measure/initiative (800 words):

❖ Soma use multimedia storytelling as an approach with a focus on literature. Soma’s programme contributes to SDG Goals # 4, 5 and 9; and UNESCO 2005 Convention Goals # 3, 4 & to some extent # 2. Its approach is intergenerational but investing in young people; and because of skewed gender equality quotient, our politics are feminist. Multimedia storytelling (literature, orature, mix media—digital, visual, audio, TV, Video) is chosen as a 'language’ for innovation, inclusive education and lifelong learning; dialogue, contestation and consensus on rights, equality and empowerment of women, girls and other marginalised people, promoting Kiswahili language and culture, excavating, producing, disseminating and preserving knowledge new narratives as well as espousing cultural diversity and inclusivity in thought, talk and action. Soma programme falls under three interlinked outcome areas: Skills, Space and Enterprise integral to our Soma Book Café a literary hub and space for leisure, culture and learning. It has a bookshop, café and event spaces, hosting events and forums for young women and men age 18 to 45
Soma’s key program activities are: 1. Public forums, platforms and events on books and literature (Space & Enterprise); 2. Watoto na Vitabu, after/out of school multimedia storytelling program with children age 6 to 13 (Space & Skills); 3. Andika na Soma short story competition for secondary schools with teenagers age 13 to 18 (Space & Skills); 4. Multimedia feminist storytelling, documentation and archiving platform with a coalition of women rights organisations; and 5. Uliza Wahenga Dada (Ask the ancestors sistah)! An art as preservation project seeking to excavate women’s stories along the Swahili coast (Space and Skills).

What are the results achieved so far through the implementation of the measure/initiative?
Since its inception Soma has:
❖ Been running Soma Book Café as a literary space curating and co-creating an average of 35 regular convenings per year for young people age 18 to 45 within its space and satellite spaces attracting at least 20 people per session; one to two convenings per year for young people age 1 to 18 attracting 50 young people; and 6 convenings per year attracting at least 15 children per session. In the last three years it has successful organised: 5 poetry workshops for a combined population of 75 people.
• Been distributing books through the bookshop, exhibitions, events & book talks with between 50 and 200 visitors.
• Organised a children’s book festival attracting 300 people of which 100 were children; adults and children’s writing workshops; a children’s book parade; a book exhibition featuring children books published in Tanzania and best produced books across Africa; a children book of the year award; and a children author’s contest whereby a female class two child (8 years) emerged the winner.
• Been organising weekly Watoto na Vitabu storytelling sessions with children at Soma Book Café attracting an average of 50 children from 2009 to 2013 and an average of 20 children from 2018 to date where each child has been reading an average of 2 books per day -- in 2019 55 children were enrolled, read 138 books and wrote and produced own 41 stories— also in this project 15 storytellers were trained and interacted with the children as program facilitators.
• Facilitated establishment of one Kijiwe cha Usomaji in one slum area with 50 child members; and used that experience to support three community resource centres design their reading and storytelling facilities.
Organised Andika na Soma short story context that has thus reached out to 500 schools throughout the country, offered creative writing training to 39 students, published 25 of their stories in 2 anthologies, and 3 students who ended up competing in international competitions and 1 has had their book published.

Participated in an AU/ADEA High Level Policy Meetings (*2) to deliberate on and develop a policy framework for national readership and book development.

Leading a capacity development initiative with 25 women rights organisations on effective approaches for excavating, preserving and disseminating women’s herstories using creative media accessible to mainstream audiences after four pilot feminist research and creative writing training workshops.
What do you consider should be the priorities of CSOs when implementing the 2005 Convention over the next 4 years? Why?

❖ Focusing on Africa as a continent and Tanzania with a focus on:
❖ Support to grassroots processes, artists and cultural practitioners in not only conserving traditional cultural forms, but also producing other avant-garde and contemporary/innovative/experimental art and literary works such as films, poetry, music, short stories, fictional and non-fictional works in print, audio and digital media as well as visual and performative and mix media works inspired by and/or blending with the wealth of indigenous cultural traits and expressions. This will increase the cultural practitioners to reach wide audiences and make a living out of their oeuvres, validate their work and enhance art appreciation among ordinary Tanzanian because as the first president of the country once said, ‘a nation without a culture is dead’. It will also but also demystify myths that perpetuate the image of careers in the arts as risky or financially unsatisfying.
Create inclusive spaces for practitioners to connect, transact, exchange and build common agenda for policy advocacy, collective bargaining and to enhance access to markets, skills and audiences partly for reasons above but also to enhance collective agencies of creatives and augment their voices and contribution to national, regional and international policy making;

Support formal and informal training, production and dissemination including art and literary criticism especially for the young potentials so as to create a sustainable art and literary presence to ensure a diverse and balanced contribution of art and literature to the world cultural heritage by people of all cultural and linguistic heritages and identities.

Develop innovative contents that contribute to new narratives by excavating silenced histories and cultural wealth and voices such as those of women and marginalised communities, indigenous, spiritualties, practices, technologies, etc. due to skewed inherited values and norms that denigrate indigenous cultural identities.

Describe the main features of the measure/initiative:
❖ The program structured to combat the existing stereotype gap that urban artists have all opportunities to create and compete in a market than those of countryside. They have in mind that without certain film stars and names from Zanzibar town and mainland there is no good film.
❖ That it aims at changing the mind set of emerging rural film practitioners by evolving program patterns by constructing film using the natural Zanzibar rural cultural archival sources that will be capable of changing audience preference trends as much as they can.
❖ The program also intends to make emerging rural film practitioners be able to assess the film as a significant historical phenomenon of Zanzibari popular culture by exploring its commercial nature
The existing stereotype is mainly built itself because of lack of general and specific knowledge on film thus, the created films are mirror image of other film and film stars. Because they limit their thinking capacity by confining their scope on what they are mirrored they end up producing low standard films and of foreign origin textures that do not make any difference to audiences.

The program therefore focuses, among other things, in giving them script writing skills as to produce a good film, skill fully made, well-acted, cohesive and internally consistent story that has the ability to elicit emotion, set mood and guide a reaction.

What are the results achieved so far through the implementation of the measure/initiative?
❖ Availability of skilful made and well created film that exploring Zanzibar Culture by using Kiswahili language and Zanzibaris original names. The resulted films qualified and won many awards international. The said films are like “MIZANI” and “KIJJI CHANGU”. Those two films depict really Zanzibar culture and they both are in Kiswahili language. “MIZANI” film has won in Italy as the best short film of 2019. “KIJJI CHANGU” has won in United States of America in the category of best male actor, best director of January, best scene of January. The “KIJJI CHANGU” film has also won in Italy in the category of best cinematographer. “KIJJI CHANGU” also won as the best East African Film in Uganda at the end of 2019.
What do you consider should be the priorities of CSOs when implementing the 2005 Convention over the next 4 years? Why?

❖ Advocacy for availability of theatre halls in all regions of Zanzibar will help to create a platform for Zanzibar films that will stimulate audience preference and combating piracy by burning the use of CDs.
❖ To have programs-based knowledge that focuses on the building up our own film practitioners and engage them in practices in doing the same.
❖ Fundraising for equipment and in-house training that will accommodate large number of local creators and artist.

Describe the main features of the measure/initiative:
❖ IIDEA initiative is part of the current GIZ- EAC cooperation programme called Support to East African Community Market driven and People Centred Integration (SEAMPEC) and it continues to provide technical and financial support to innovative projects proposed and implemented by private sector and civil society organizations that demonstrate integration benefits for citizens in the areas of Health, Culture, ICT (digital and e-commerce), Agriculture, Trade, Tourism and EAC stakeholders’ as key areas in the EAC Common Market Protocol. Projects focuses on the needs of the youth and women as beneficiaries.

The main objective of IIDEA is to ensure that non-state actors in the EAC-Partner States have implemented measures for people’s participation in regional economic integration. To realize the objective, several measures on services and products offered in the field of social and economic integration is implemented; some of them with a focus on the needs of women and youth.

Over the years, IIDEA supported innovators in the areas of culture and development that focused their interventions in facilitating mobility of art professional and services across the East African countries. These included supported the East Africa performing arts market by the Bayimba Foundation, the moving arts across East Africa by East Africa Art biennale Association, Performing arts for young East Africans by Dance Team Africa, Creative Economy Incubator for fashion design, film and music, Swahili woodedutainment solutions for regional integration by Media for Development Initiative and Hakuna Kulala Incubator project by Boutiq foundation.

Has the implementation of the policy/measure been evaluated?  ■ YES  □ NO
If yes, what are the main conclusions/recommendations?

❖ Engage wider stakeholders including bigger companies and governments to enable them support IIDEA projects and make the projects EAC integration success stories
❖ Secure more funding for the IIDEA project to reach out to many other interest groups such as the youth, women, professional associations
❖ IIDEA needs to take on a medium to long-term vision, e.g. 2 years project cycle and 5 years evaluation time frame;
❖ Stronger emphasis on branding (after the scope is clarified) to increase number of applications during the call for application
❖ Review the financial contribution to IIDEA partners (which again depends on the stage of the product), for early stage rather pay an incubator (20,000 USD) and fund a prototype (5,000 – 10,000 USD) and for later stage ensure solid scaling (25,000 – 100,000 USD)
Extend the time span to 1-2 years, because 6 months is very short for an early-stage start-up and also difficult for cross border activities in general

Work with less projects and allocate more resources to them.

IIDEA to perform two key functions: platform and driver of the regional ecosystem (regional community management) & strong and holistic regional incubation program (regional program management); the community management ensures connections to all relevant actors and understands their functions and the program manager is very close to the start-ups and provides all services and support needed.

Provide more coaching and mentoring (1on1) as possible to the projects, e.g. technical industry-specific knowledge, personal development, business knowledge.

Design the program holistically and make sure that it is sustainable, e.g. develop a financial plan that operations continue and provide after-incubation services to bridge the time until financial self-sustainment.

Collaborate with the entrepreneurship ecosystem in the EAC and provide services through experienced actors, e.g. coaching and mentoring via technical experts.

Has the implementation of the policy/measure been evaluated? ■ YES □ NO

If yes, what are the main conclusions/recommendations?

❖ Capitalisation: Continuity of the support to the culture sector capitalising on cumulative experience and knowledge.

❖ New orientation: culture as a productive sector with economic potential structurally supported inside other major thematic programmes (e.g. trade development, urban/local development, youth and employment).

❖ Knowledge building and Inter-ministerial coordinated approach: Informed quality formulation and shared common visions to ensure complementarity and public ownership.

❖ EU coordination and added value: Re-dynamization of the European Union National Institutes for Culture (EUNIC) cluster possibilities for strategically planning/implementing an intervention with greater EU added value.

❖ Implementation mechanisms: alternative options to direct management ensuring strategic planning, qualified staff and sufficient resources for implementation and promotion of the interventions.

Describe the main features of the measure/initiative:
❖ The International Association of Women in Radio & Television (IAWRT), Tanzania got involved in gender mainstreaming in 2011 as a way of contributing to the global consultation organized by UNESCO within the framework of developing Gender Sensitive Indicators for Media (GSIM). The draft GSIM formed the basis from which media organizations derived guidelines to work towards gender equality. We focused on the organizational structures of the public broadcasters in six countries where IAWRT has chapters during a first project in 2013. Working under the guidance of seasoned researchers. We developed a survey that helped assess staffing and policies to determine gender representation in the respective media organizations. Data showed that public broadcasters had major underrepresentation of women in senior editorial and management positions. There were glaring disparities, men being favored in assignments, training opportunities, and promotions, and there were also reported incidences of sexual harassment of the female workers. Women also constituted a large percentage of temporary workers which don’t enjoy company benefits. Out of the six media organizations sampled, only Tanzania Broadcasting Corporation had an operational gender mainstreaming policy.

What are the results achieved so far through the implementation of the measure/initiative?
❖ Circulation of the report to different stakeholders, to include the report in different workshops and seminars and to translate the report into Kiswahili for the community to understand the relevance of the contents to them.
❖ Holding discussions through electronic media and to use social media platform as well as the existing websites of partner organizations like TAMWA and others to publicize the report. It is through Such engagements where journalists are influenced to be more engaged with gender issues so they can mainstream gender into their daily undertakings and influence media owners and media decision makers to create interest in gender issue.
❖ The third achievement was through the workshops there was a task force of Gender mainstreaming Champions formed to monitor closely the movement of the project and report to the chapter head for further evaluation. These champions were both members of IAWRT and non-members and it included both men and women. The champions were 11 in total.
What do you consider should be the priorities of CSOs when implementing the 2005 Convention over the next 4 years? Why?

❖ For IAWRT Tanzania, we will focus more on the monitoring and reporting on the changes that happened after awareness creation about the Gender Mainstreaming in our local media houses in the past years, where in the future we intend to document the ‘Her stories’ that came up after the adoption of the gender policies in various medias in Tanzania.
