Basic Texts

Detailed information on the General Conference and its workings, in particular the Constitution and Rules of Procedure, can be found in the Basic Texts, which are available, with other basic documents for the Conference on request at the Document Distribution Service at the Mall.

Documents

To indicate which documents your delegation would like to receive during the General Conference (one copy in one language per delegation), all you need to do is fill in GC form 18 which can be obtained from the Documents Distribution Service, in the basement of the Conference Building. You will find your documents every day in your pigeonhole at the Documents Distribution Service.

In each meeting room there will be a limited number of documents related to the work of the body which is using the room.

All UNESCO’s General Conference documents are accessible on the Internet.

Two documents must be read: documents 39 C/1 (Agenda) and 39 C/2 (Organization of the work of the session), so that you can decide which commissions and meetings you will attend.

This also applies to the e-journal of the General Conference, which will be posted throughout the session and regularly updated.

Working languages

The working languages are Arabic, Chinese, English, French, Russian and Spanish.

Simultaneous interpretation is provided in these six languages; all documents which require a decision by the General Conference are also published in these languages. Information documents (39 C/INF) and Reports (39 C/REP) are available in English and French only.

General policy debate (national statements)

Delegations are invited to address any question related to the general policy debate to Ms Martha Milanzi Nguni (Tel.: 80967, Offices C.029).

Seating arrangements for delegates

In the plenary meeting rooms and in the commissions, one seat is allocated to Member States in French alphabetical order, starting with Angola as drawn by lot at the 201st session of the Executive Board. The number of seats per delegation varies according to the room. Places will be set aside for observers.

The General Conference meets every two years. The participants are all the Member States and Associate Members; non-Member States, intergovernmental organizations, non-governmental organizations and other official partners are invited as observers.

The General Conference determines UNESCO’s work, regular budget and policies by:

- discussing all issues concerning the general policy of the Organization;
- adopting a programme for the next four years and a budget for the next two years, the draft of which is submitted to the General Conference after consultations between Member States and the Secretariat;

- electing the Members of the Executive Board for a four-year term (renewed by half at each session);
- electing the Director-General for a term of four years; and every eight years,
- adopting the Medium-Term Strategy of the Organization.

How the system works

The work of the General Conference is conducted in plenary sessions, commissions, committees and working groups, which sometimes meet simultaneously.

Plenary

The heads of delegation attend plenary sessions and take part in the general policy debate. All decisions of the General Conference are adopted in plenary.

Commissions and committees

At each session, the General Conference sets up such commissions and committees it deems necessary. It has been recommended that the General Conference establish six commissions at its 39th session.

Each commission consists of an elected bureau, which numbers a chairperson, four vice-chairpersons and a rapporteur assisted by a secretariat composed of UNESCO staff seconded to the commission for the duration of the session. The agendas of the commissions are organized around one of the main themes of UNESCO’s programme:

- ED Commission: Education (Room II)
- SC Commission: Natural sciences and Intergovernmental Oceanographic Commission (Room II)
- SHS Commission: Social and human sciences (Room XI)
- CLT Commission: Culture (Room II)
- CI Commission: Communication (Room XII)
- APX Commission: Finance, administration and general questions, programme support and external relations (Room XI)

In each debate, delegations normally only take the floor once. Delegates who have a draft resolution (DR) to present should, if possible, do so during their statement. Nevertheless, each commission can also decide to examine DRs at the end of the debate.

The APX will start work on Tuesday 31 October at 10 a.m., followed by the other commissions.

The following four statutory committees are also established:
The Credentials Committee (Room VIII), in charge of checking the credentials of participants, consists of nine members elected at the first plenary meeting of the General Conference on the proposal of the Temporary President.

The Legal Committee (Room VI), responsible for considering draft amendments to the Constitution or Rules of Procedure of the General Conference, and legal matters that are submitted to it, consists of 24 members elected by halves during the two previous sessions.

The Nominations Committee (Room IV) examines and submits to the General Conference proposals concerning the composition of commissions and committees and other bodies whose members must be elected by the General Conference (Rules 34 and 35 of the Rules of Procedure). It consists of the heads of all the delegations with voting rights at the General Conference.

The Bureau of the General Conference (Room X) steers and coordinates the work of commissions and committees. Its members are the President and Vice-Presidents of the General Conference and the chairpersons of the subsidiary organs. It sets the agenda of plenary meetings and examines requests for the inclusion of new items on the agenda. Each commission and committee chairperson reports regularly to the Bureau on the progress of its work.

Taking the floor

All the speakers responsible for national statements within the general policy debate must limit their statements to six minutes. Observers have three minutes.

Delegations are requested to send the text of their statements (both on paper and electronically) in advance to Ms Martha Milanzi Nguni (tel.: 80967, Office C.029; email: GPD@unesco.org).

The statements will be handed to the interpreters, and made available to the press. In the commissions, the time limit on speeches is set by the chairperson. In order to take the floor in commission, please contact the secretariat of the commission before or during the meeting, but in any event before the list of speakers is closed. To be sure of accurate interpretation and a reliable report, it is useful to hand a copy of your text in advance to the secretary and to the rapporteur of the commission, even if it is not typed. The conference room clerks are at speakers’ disposal to make photocopies.

Normally, speakers take the floor from their seats; however, during the general policy debate in Room I (national statements), heads of delegation speak from the rostrum.

Draft resolutions

A draft resolution, or DR, is a proposal submitted by one or more delegations with a view to having it adopted as a decision of the General Conference. Most DRs aim to modify guidelines laid down in the draft programme and budget and are examined initially in commission; some, concerning agenda items only scheduled to be examined in plenary, go directly to the plenary.

Voting procedures
Each Member State has one vote, unless its credentials have not been accepted as fully valid by the Credentials Committee or it has not satisfied the provisions of paragraph 2 of Rule 83 of the Rules of Procedure concerning arrears in contributions.

Voting is conducted in one of three ways: by show of hands (the most common); by secret ballot (for elections); or by roll-call (in exceptional cases). To vote by show of hands, raise your country’s nameplate.

Decisions are taken by a simple majority of members present and voting except in cases where a two-thirds majority is required, for instance for the admission of new members (Rules 84 and 85 of the Rules of Procedure).

Often, when there is general agreement, decisions are taken without a vote by consensus.

Elections

The Nominations Committee organizes many elections during the General Conference:

- Bureau of the General Conference, which takes place, on the proposal of the Executive Board, at the beginning of the plenary;

- Members of the Executive Board, in accordance with the distribution of Member States by electoral group (Group I: 9 seats; Group II: 7 seats; Group III: 10 seats; Group IV: 12 seats; Group V: 20 seats); candidacies must be transmitted to the Director-General if possible at least six weeks before the session and in any event at least 48 hours before the election;

- the bureaux of the commissions and committees of the General Conference;

- intergovernmental committees and councils associated with UNESCO’s programme; and

- the External Auditor (appointment every six years).

The appointment of the Director-General takes place every four years during a special plenary meeting.

The dates of elections are shown in the timetable of work and reflected in the e-journal and in announcements displayed on screens.

The election of members of the Executive Board will take place on Wednesday, 8 November. A voting bureau is set up in Room V from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on the day of the election; delegates may vote there at their convenience without any break in the discussions (see document 39 C/2). A special Plenary meeting will be convened during the afternoon to announce the results of the election.

The election of members of the International Bureau of Education and all other organs whose members are elected by the General Conference, as well as that of the External Auditor, will take place during a meeting of the Nominations Committee in the morning of Thursday, 9 November.

The appointment of the Director-General will take place on Friday, 10 November. The General Conference shall consider the nomination submitted by the Executive Board at a private meeting and shall then come to a decision by secret ballot.
