I. Hague Convention of 1954

1. Article 3 - Safeguarding of cultural property

This article sets out the obligation for High Contracting Parties to adopt in time of peace the appropriate safeguarding measures against the foreseeable effects of an armed conflict.

Have you adopted such measures?

As a part of the implementation process, we are at present inventorying the responsibility that lies on respective regional authority, the military and contingencies agency as well as the national cultural authorities in order to make the roles clear. The National Heritage Board will initiate a joint dialogue with the County Administrative Boards in order to plan the executive measures.

2. Article 7 - Military measures

This article sets out the obligations of High Contracting Parties to introduce into their military regulations or instructions such provisions as may ensure observance of the Convention. As well as the preparation or establishment, within their armed forces, of services or specialist personnel whose purpose will be to secure respect for cultural property and to co-operate with the civilian authorities responsible for safeguarding it. These obligations must be implemented in time of peace.

Have you introduced into your military regulations or instructions such provisions as may ensure observance of the Convention?

If this information is available in a previously submitted report, you may refer to it.

Yes. The Swedish law (1992:1402) on relocation and destruction contains provisions that allow the total defence to relocate cultural property to ensure protection in the events of acts of war. In the associated regulation (1993:243) there are rules that oblige museums and other cultural institutions to plot the relocation within their area of competence in order to facilitate execution.

Have you established within your armed forces, services whose purpose will be to secure respect for cultural property?

The National Heritage Board has during 2016 had an initial dialogue with the Swedish Armed Forces International Centre (Swedint) and the Folke Bernadotte Academy (Swedish Agency for Peace, Security and Development) on establishing a training session about Cultural heritage in times of war, targeting Swedish nationals travelling to conflict areas. The training can hopefully be scheduled for 2017-2018 but an introductory education material has been initiated.

3. Use of the distinctive emblem to indicate cultural property (Chapter V)

The Hague Convention of 1954 created a distinctive emblem for the exclusive marking of cultural property with the aim of ensuring its recognition, particularly in the event of armed conflict. The marking of cultural property constitutes one of the preparatory measures that may be taken in time of peace.
Have you indicated cultural property through the use of the distinctive emblem of the Convention?

No.

4. Article 25 – Dissemination of the Convention

The regulations relating to the protection of cultural property in time of war must be incorporated into programmes for military, and where possible, civil training. The aim is to ensure that the principles of the Convention are made known to the whole population, and especially the armed forces and personnel engaged in the protection of cultural property.

Have you disseminated the provisions of the Convention within the armed forces as well as among target groups and the general public?

Yes. See answer on question 2. Additionally, The Swedish National Heritage Board will start training customs officers - through e-learning - on export and import regulations related to cultural goods.

-As with all UNESCO Conventions, the responsible authorities work to make the principles of the Hague Convention known to the public. That could both be the actual provisions and what differs the Conventions from each other but also to merge them in order to disseminate the UNESCO principles as an entirety.

Within this framework, what awareness-raising activities have you organized, and what awareness-raising activities do you plan to organize in the future? Please indicate the target groups for each activity.

The Swedish National Heritage Board has in that regard:

-Established a broad cross-sectoral cooperation between authorities which are concerned with issues related to illicit trafficking of cultural property, for example Swedish National Commission for UNESCO, Swedish National Heritage Board, World Culture Museums, Swedish Customs and Swedish Police. A common message platform will be established in 2017 for these authorities to be used in both internal and external communications on issues related to illicit trafficking.

-Initiated a dialogue with a number of major Swedish art and antique-dealers in order to make them aware of the resolutions and sanctions of the UN Security Council and to establish cooperation between the competent authorities and the art market in order to strengthen the fight against illicit trafficking of cultural property.

-Together with the Swedish Police participated in our country’s largest antique fair to inform the public and the antique-dealers about rules for the export of cultural goods and the risks in not abiding with the law. There was also information spread about the campaign #Unite4heritage. At the same event the Swedish National Commission for UNESCO and the Swedish National Heritage Board held a public presentation on the destruction of cultural heritage in ongoing armed conflicts and on how private persons can contribute to the fight against illicit trafficking of cultural property.

-Produced a folder containing brief information in both Swedish and English on export rules and the risk of smuggling. The folder has been sent to every Swedish auction house, to all major dealers in art, antiques and antiquarian books and to every transportation company specialized in international moving and shipping of art and antiques.
-Launched an information campaign on the Internet directed at the public to prevent illicit trafficking in threatened cultural property. This project is implemented by the Swedish National Commission for UNESCO, Swedish National Heritage Board, World Culture Museums and Swedish ICOM.

-Attended and participated in the so called “Week of Almedalen” - Sweden's largest political meeting place – where there were two different seminars that addressed the issue of illicit trafficking of cultural property and the destruction of cultural heritage in war and conflicts. One seminar had a national perspective on the problem and the other had a more international perspective with Director-General Irina Bokova participating in the discussion. Both events attracted a big audience and had a good impact in the media.
-Started a campaign on Facebook and Instagram with awareness raising clips and pictures about cultural heritage crime and illicit trafficking.

5. Article 26 (1) – Official translations

The Secretariat has received a certain number of official translations of the Convention and of the Regulations for its execution. For reference, please consult:

Does your country have its national translation(s) there?

Yes.

6. Article 28 – Sanctions

This article sets out the obligations of High Contracting Parties to take, within the framework of their ordinary criminal jurisdiction, all necessary steps to prosecute and impose penal or disciplinary sanctions upon those persons, of whatever nationality, who commit or order to be committed a breach of the Convention.

Have you established as criminal offences under your domestic law conduct contrary to the obligations set out by the Convention?

Yes. When included as part of or otherwise in connection with an armed conflict or an occupation, the act to direct an attack towards cultural property (in the meaning of the Convention), provided that this property is not a military objective, is criminalized as a war crime in the Swedish national law (2014:406) on punishment for genocide, crime against humanity and war crimes.

II. Resolution II of the Conference of 1954

Have you established a National Advisory Committee in accordance with the hope expressed by the Conference in its Resolution II?

No.
III. 1954 First Protocol

[To be completed by the High Contracting Parties to the 1954 Protocol only]

The main objective of the 1954 Protocol is the protection of cultural property in occupied territory. As such, it organizes, among others, a system of:
- taking into custody;
- return of illegally exported cultural property; and
- finally indemnity to the holders in good faith.

Have you adopted measures to implement the 1954 First Protocol? In particular, have you adopted national legislation providing for the custody of cultural property imported either directly or indirectly from any occupied territory?

No.

Have you taken into custody cultural property imported into your territory from an occupied territory?

No.

IV. 1999 Second Protocol

[To be completed by the High Contracting Parties to the 1999 Protocol only]

The 1999 Second Protocol complements the Hague Convention of 1954 in many aspects. If this information has already been presented within the framework of the questions regarding the Hague Convention of 1954, you may refer to it directly.

1. General provisions (Chapter 2)

Article 5 - Safeguarding of cultural property

Article 5 of the Second Protocol complements Article 3 of the Hague Convention by providing concrete examples of peacetime preparatory measures, such as the preparations of inventories of cultural property or the designation of competent authorities responsible for the safeguarding of cultural property.

Have you adopted such measures?

No answer.

Article 9 - Protection of cultural property in occupied territory

Article 9 of the Second Protocol complements the provisions in Article 5 of the Hague Convention by imposing a number of prohibitive measures on the Occupying Power. Paragraph 102 of the Guidelines for the Implementation of the Second Protocol requests Parties that are an Occupying Power to provide information in their national reports on the way in which the provisions regarding the protection of cultural property in occupied territory are observed.
Do you ensure compliance with the provisions regarding the protection of cultural heritage under military occupation?

No answer.

2. Enhanced protection (Chapter 3)

Do you intend to request the granting of enhanced protection for cultural property in the next four years or, where applicable, do you have a national tentative list within the framework of Article 11 (1) of the Second Protocol?

No answer.

MONITORING OF CULTURAL PROPERTY UNDER ENHANCED PROTECTION

[If certain cultural property(ies) in your State benefit from enhanced protection, please also complete this section of the questionnaire.]

The benefit of enhanced protection implies continued compliance with the conditions set out in Article 10 of the Second Protocol.

Is there a specific mechanism in place to monitor cultural property under enhanced protection? As an example, are the measures adopted to ensure the highest level of protection periodically reviewed so as to ensure they are fully effective in all circumstances?

No answer.

Pursuant to paragraph 102 of the Guidelines, the Parties must inform on the use of the distinctive emblem for cultural property under enhanced protection.

Have you used the new distinctive emblem adopted by the 2015 Meeting of Parties to mark cultural property under enhanced protection?

No answer.

Pursuant to paragraph 65 of the Guidelines for the Implementation of the 1999 Second Protocol, the Parties must notify the Committee of any change affecting the cultural property concerned to meet the criteria set out in Article 10 of the Second Protocol.

Does the Committee need to be notified of a change regarding cultural property in your territory benefiting from enhanced protection?

No answer.
3. Criminal responsibility and jurisdiction (Chapter 4)

Article 15 – Serious violations of the Second Protocol

Article 15 requires the Parties to establish as criminal offences under its domestic law a series of behaviours constituting serious violations of the Second Protocol, by punishing them by appropriate penalties.

What measures have been taken to ensure the implementation of this obligation?

No answer.

Article 16 – Jurisdiction

Article 16 requires the Parties to establish the jurisdiction of their courts over serious violations of the 1999 Second Protocol.

What measures have been taken to confer jurisdiction on your courts over serious violations of the Second Protocol?

No answer.

Article 21 – Measures regarding other violations

The Second Protocol also requires the Parties to adopt legislative, administrative or disciplinary measures to prevent the occurrence of behaviours that adversely affect the integrity of cultural heritage.

Have you adopted such measures?

No answer.

4. Dissemination of information and international assistance

Article 30 – Dissemination

Article 30 complements Articles 7 and 25 of the Hague Convention of 1954. In this regard, it requests the Parties to, among other things, strengthen appreciation and respect for cultural property by their entire population, ensure the dissemination of the Protocol, and incorporate guidelines and instructions on the protection of cultural property in their military regulations.

Have you disseminated the provisions of the 1999 Second Protocol within the armed forces as well as among target groups and the general public?

No answer.
Within this framework, what awareness-raising activities have you organized, and what awareness-raising activities do you plan to organize in the future? Please indicate the target groups for each activity.

No answer.

Articles 32 – International assistance

Pursuant to paragraph 102 of the Guidelines for the Implementation of the Second Protocol, the Parties are invited to present their activities at bi- or multilateral level, within the framework of technical assistance in order to share their experiences or best practices.

Have you shared, particularly via the Secretariat of UNESCO, your experiences in the implementation and best practices?

No answer.

Pursuant to Article 37 of the Second Protocol, the Parties shall translate this standard-setting instrument into their official languages and shall communicate these official translations to the Director-General. To date, the Secretariat has received a certain number of official translations of the Second Protocol. For reference, please consult:

Language versions of the 1999 Second Protocol

Does your country have its national translation(s) there?

No answer.

V. Miscellaneous questions regarding the Hague Convention of 1954 and its two Protocols

1. National focal point

According to paragraph 103 of the Guidelines for the Implementation of the Second Protocol: “Unless a Party requests otherwise, the presumed focal point would be its Permanent Delegation to UNESCO”. If you do not wish to consider the Permanent Delegation as the focal point, please provide the Secretariat with the name and address of a national focal point that will receive all official documents and correspondence relating to the implementation of the Second Protocol.
2. National practice regarding the implementation of the Hague Convention and its Two Protocols

The Secretariat would be grateful if you would provide it with a copy of the following documents in French and/or English:

- The relevant administrative civil and military regulations:

VII. Granting of enhanced protection – Opinion Survey

Pursuant to Chapter 3 of the 1999 Second Protocol, enhanced protection is granted by the Committee for the Protection of Cultural Property in the Event of Armed Conflict if three conditions are cumulatively met:

- The cultural property is of the greatest importance for humanity;
- The cultural property is protected by adequate domestic legal and administrative measures recognizing its exceptional cultural and historic value and ensuring the highest level of protection; and,
- The cultural property is not used for military purposes or to shield military sites, and the Party which has control over it has made a declaration that it will not be used for such purposes.

As these conditions are set out within the framework of an international treaty, their full understanding cannot be separated from state practice, which is of fundamental importance with regard to the International Law of treaties. As such, this national report is an opportunity for the national authorities of the Parties to express their views on the conditions under which enhanced protection is granted.

For each of the conditions set out in Article 10 of the Second Protocol, please answer the following questions, taking into account the relevant paragraphs of the Guidelines for the Implementation of the Second Protocol.

- Article 10, paragraph (a) – “Greatest importance for humanity”

  No answer.

- Article 10, paragraph (b) – “Highest level of protection”

  No answer.

- Article 10, paragraph (c) – “Non-use for military purposes”

  Please indicate the national authorities to be consulted with a view to taking the decision not to use the cultural property submitted for the granting of enhanced protection for military purposes or to shield military sites.

  No answer.
