To Whom It May Concern

Dear Madam/Sir,

Please be advised that UNESCO Office in Beirut, Regional Bureau for Education in the Arab States, in collaboration with the Arab Thought Foundation (ATF), is preparing a “Repository of promising teaching and learning practices in the Arab Region”. The Repository will include curated examples of promising practices contributed by educators by completing a Template based on self-assessment reporting. The Repository responds to the need of learning from one another and building on effective teaching and learning practices during and post the Covid-19 pandemic.

The Repository will be developed with the support of a group of consultants and resource persons led by Dr. Mona Nabhani, from the Lebanese American University, Beirut. Dr. Mona Nabhani is a long-term collaborator of UNESCO and a well-known education specialist in the Arab Region and internationally.

Through this letter, we would like to extend to you our greetings and appreciation of your important work in the education field. At the same time, we would like to seek your kind support in completing the research our office conducts on this important issue (please see the attached Call for contributions and Template).

Depending on your availability, I hope that we can benefit from your experience, expertise and data you may be willing to share with us. Please be reassured that all contributions to this research will be duly acknowledged as per UNESCO practices.

I look forward to completing this project and I am confident it will contribute positively to improving teacher professional development and teacher performances in our Region.

Sincerely,

Costanza Farina
Director of UNESCO Regional Bureau - Beirut
UNESCO Representative to Lebanon & Syria
