1. Brief presentation of the Biennale

The Biennale of Luanda – “Pan-African Forum for the Culture of Peace” is an international event jointly organised by UNESCO, the African Union (AU) and the government of Angola. The Biennale 2021 will be held from 27 November to 2 December 2021 and will be organised in a hybrid format, mixing face-to-face and digital elements. The whole event will be entirely streamed on the “Biennale TV”, freely accessible from the Biennale’s website with interpretation available in English, French, and Portuguese.

The six-day programme will be organised around the following axes:

- Intergenerational Dialogue of Leaders and Youth (27 November)

Over a hundred young leaders from all across Africa and its many diasporas will participate in the Biennale of Luanda 2021 as part of the Intergenerational Dialogue. These youths will organise their discussion with Ministers in charge of Youth and Culture and other African leaders on the very first day of the Biennale, in person and online around the central theme: “Cultural and Heritage Diversity of Africa and its Diasporas: Fires of Conflict or Ground of Peace?” which is itself divided into 4 themes and 10 sub-themes.

Young people make up the largest population group in Africa and, by 2030, 42% of the population of the continent will be between 15 and 24 years old. This is why the Biennale also aims to be a space of exchange where African and Afro-descendant youth play a leading role. Indeed, this event is an exceptional opportunity to give these youths a seat at the table and the platform they deserve.

- Thematic and Best Practice Forums (29 to 30 November)

The Thematic and Best Practices Forums will be organised around four themes, and will take place on 29 and 30 November.

These forums will bring together best practices and partners interested in peace and sustainable development in order to develop, on a larger scale, projects and initiatives that have proven to be successful on the African continent, at the local, national or sub-regional level.

They intend to stimulate the implementation of Flagship Initiatives for Africa and will culminate with the Launch of the Alliance of Partners for the Culture of Peace in Africa.

- Launch of the Alliance of Partners for a Culture of Peace (30 November)

The Biennale of Luanda aims to create an Alliance of committed partners that contributes to the promotion of the culture of peace in Africa around a common cause: the future of the African continent. Conceived as the main tool to create a multi-stakeholder and intersectoral partnership, the Alliance of Partners for the Culture of Peace will support the scaling up of flagship initiatives that have proven successful at local or sub-regional level in Africa.

The launch of the Alliance of Partners will take place on 30 November, when the flagship Initiatives developed throughout the Thematic and Best Practices Forums will also be presented. Ultimately, a joint declaration and a road map on the implementation of these flagship Initiatives are to be adopted at the closing ceremony.

During virtual private sessions held from 1 to 2 December, partners will come to present their projects and best practices around the 4 themes of the Biennale:

1. Contribution of arts, culture and heritage to peace;
2. Engaging young people as actors of social transformations for conflict prevention and sustainable development;
3. Africa in the face of conflicts, crisis and inequality;
4. Harnessing the potential of oceans for sustainable development and peace.
