Preserve information for present and future generations.

Documentary heritage is the memory of humankind. This heritage should be accessible to as many people as possible, through digital heritage and the use of library and archives.