Universiti Sains Malaysia’s Involvement in Sustainability and Sustainability Science

Suzyrman Sibly
Centre for Global Sustainability Studies
Universiti Sains Malaysia
Berjaya Times Square
19 December 2016
• Sustainability Science for Undergraduates
  – WSU 101: Sustainability: Issues, Challenges and Prospects
  – Elective course offered in 2011
  – Started off in main campus with 127 students undergraduate students from variety of disciplines
  – More than 500 students enrolled every semester across 3 campuses
• Postgraduate Sustainability programmes
  – Master in Sustainable Cities and Communities
  – MBA in Sustainable Development
  – Master of Communication (Science and Environmental Journalism)
  – M.Sc. in Environmental Science
  – Master of Science Environmental Engineering
  – Master in Sustainability (research)
  – PhD in Sustainability (research)
  – Master in Sustainable Development Practice (MSDP)
• Master in Sustainable Development Practice (MSDP)
  – Multi-disciplinary in nature
  – Science, Social Science, Health Science, Management
  – Conducted in Kuala Lumpur (Saturdays and Sundays)
  – Collaboration of more than 30 universities globally
  – 14 courses (12 core and 2 electives)
  – Started in 2014 with 4 students
  – 2016 – 19 Students
Thank You